

Additional Information

For additional information, prevention materials, and/or in-service training, contact your local social services department or the Virginia Department of Social Services at www.dss.virginia.gov.

Local Department of Social Services Response

After a report is made, a child protective services (CPS) social worker will interview the child and siblings, the parents or caretakers, and the alleged abuser. The CPS social worker may also contact other persons having information about suspected abuse or neglect of the child(ren).

The CPS social worker will conduct a child safety assessment; determine if child abuse or neglect occurred or if there is risk or harm; and develop a safety and services plan with the family when indicated.

The primary goal of child protective services is to strengthen and support families in preventing the (re)occurrence of child maltreatment through community-based services.

Tips for Families

Self Care for Parents/Caretakers

When parents take time to care for themselves, they are better able to manage the challenges of parenting. Learn to recognize signs of stress and take time out to replenish yourself. You may wish to:

- ▶ Find a sitter you can trust to give you time for adult interests and relationships
- ▶ Relieve stress by taking a walk, reading, or pursuing a hobby
- ▶ Visit or talk with friends or relatives
- ▶ Talk with other parents
- ▶ Join a community activity or group

Ways to Show Your Children That You Care

- ▶ Notice them
- ▶ Ask them about themselves
- ▶ Play with them
- ▶ Read aloud together
- ▶ Hug them
- ▶ Suggest better behaviors when they act out
- ▶ Praise more
- ▶ Criticize less

Recognizing, Reporting and Preventing Child Abuse and Neglect in Virginia

Making a Difference in a Child's Life

Each year in Virginia, over 45,000 children are reported to local social services departments for suspected child abuse or neglect.

Abuse and neglect of children occurs within families and in other settings where children are provided care or services. These settings include schools, residential facilities, day care centers/homes, and recreational or sporting programs.

Recognizing and reporting suspected child abuse and neglect are first steps toward ensuring the safety and well-being of children.

What is Child Abuse and Neglect?

Section 63.2-100 of the Code of Virginia defines an abused or neglected child as any child under 18 years of age whose parent, guardian, or other person responsible for the child's care:

- 1) Causes or threatens to cause a non-accidental physical or mental injury.
- 2) Causes or threatens to cause a non-accidental physical or mental injury during the manufacture or sale of certain drugs.
- 3) Neglects or refuses to provide adequate food, clothing, shelter, emotional nurturing, or health care.
- 4) Abandons the child.
- 5) Fails to provide adequate supervision in relation to the child's age and level of development.

6) Commits or allows to be committed any illegal sexual act upon a child including incest, rape, fondling, or indecent exposure, prostitution, or allows a child to be used in any sexually explicit visual material.

7) Knowingly leaves a child alone in the same dwelling with a person who is not related to the child by blood or marriage and who is required to register as a violent sexual offender.

In addition, the law requires physicians to report to CPS any newborn infant who tests positive for drugs.

Reporting

Anyone may report suspected abuse or neglect; however Section 63.2-1509 of the Code of Virginia requires that designated professionals who have contact with children immediately report their suspicions. It is not necessary to prove that abuse or neglect has occurred.

Reports can be made by calling your local social services department or the Child Abuse and Neglect Hotline at 1-800-552-7096.

Reports can be made anonymously. If you choose to provide your name, it will not be released to the family who was reported, except by Court order.

Persons reporting in good faith are immune from civil and criminal liability pursuant to Section 63.2-1512 of the Code.
